Group Work with Chemically Dependent Clients

Led by Issac Boose, M.Ed., LPC, LMFT, CCAP – Clinical Director of Pine Grove Next Step

This workshop will provide effective techniques to group counselors interested in extending their knowledge and skills in group work to the chemically dependent population. Attendees will examine the similarities as well as the differences that exist between chemically dependent and non-chemically dependent group work.

Objectives:

- Provide lecture/group discussion on treating chemically dependent clients within a group setting
- Focus on treatment of addictions by utilizing the therapy group as a treatment option
- Present options to utilize the family of the chemically dependent clients as a unique therapy group
- Demonstrate current practices and techniques utilized within addictions group therapy
- Evaluate differences between therapy groups and traditional self-help groups, such as AA
- Present a brief overview of addictions counseling
- Discuss factors that distinguish addictions counseling from other forms of counseling
